More experience reports

Stefan blogs at whocares.de about his experience with a try&buy T2000. Good read, because he seems to be a Solaris newbie with a good linux knowledge. A different viewpoint to the operating system ...

Fascinating!

Stefan shares an entirely different approach and a point of view most of us have lost contact with long ago. I'm curious to read on about his experience - and of course I'm all green with envy he's got that wonderful toy to play with and I don't .
