Observations from the Conf Call

Good observations from the Conf Call regarding the job cuts by an outsider. (hmm, from my point of view Ben is not really an outsider, he live somewhere in the twilight zone). Some observations i would sign right here right now, some seems to be US specific (the US business and the GY business has it's differences mandated by the markets). As usual i won't get more specific, because i would hate it to be one of the 5000.
