

Thursday, February 8, 2007

Future Sun Processors Road Map

Good summary at IT Jungle: Sun Details Server Chip Roadmaps at Analyst Summit.

In my opinion the heartening message behind all the processor news is: When you are able to boot up the processor in such a short time after you got the silicon from your foundry, there isn't a huge gap between concept and reality, your construction plan and the physical gear. They showed it with Niagara I, they showed it with Niagara II and they show it with Victoria Falls. So I have an incredible confidence, that Rock will appear in time and in specification.

Posted by Joerg Moellenkamp in English, Oracle at 13:21