

Wednesday, June 20, 2007

OSNews about the de Raadts accuse of Duplicity

There is an interesting discussion under way at OSnews about the answer of Simon Phipps to de Raadts accusations, that Sun speaks with two tongues. The discussion is surprisingly pro-SUN (at least up to comment #52). And as far as i remember, the points summarized by Simon were communicated to de Raadt on several occasions: You can't give away documentation you don't really have or your're not allowed to give away due to licensing agreements.

Posted by Joerg Moellenkamp in English, Oracle at 13:53

Theo can make really a lot of noise, but in most of the cases, he is right. Not to forget, that he is a person, who does something.

Simon promised me 2 years ago, to help to the Blastwave project, because it's a OSS project which very close to Sun and that we actively promote Solaris. Except promisses and vaporware, we (Blastwave) haven't got anything from him.

Anonymous on Jul 21 2007, 23:49