

Monday, July 23. 2007

Separate Logging for ZFS

Neil gives an introduction into the usage of the new "seperate zil" feature (dubbed "slog" for "seperate log"). This feature was introduced with build 68 of Opensolaris. Additionally, he made some benchmarks. Interesting read. The improvement by using a NVRAM based slog are at least impressive.

Posted by Joerg Moellenkamp in English, Solaris at 17:37