Unfair

This is simply not fair ... we at Sun solved our problems, we increased our profits and margins, we lowered our costs. We´ve announced important deals for our future. All was set for the stock to going upwards ... and now the complete fscking stock market goes downhill.

Well ... Sun could be as good as anything, but you wont be able to increase/hold your revenue if nobody is ordering new stuff.

Same goes for existing service contracts, there is not much revenue gain from bankrupt companies ...

Surely I wrote about the worst case scenario, however everybody is panicking, is lowering investments, etc.

I wonder how this is going on ...

cheers
