

Friday, February 1. 2008

More fun with the TSA

There is a new TSA regulation: You have to take out all electronic devices including cabling out of your carry-on luggage. I'm in New York at the end of this month. I really hope that this regulation is only a valid at SFO. Otherwise travelling to the US will be a major pain in the a... with all my electronic gadgets

Posted by Joerg Moellenkamp in Business Travel at 14:24

Guten Abend Joerg,
was nimmste eigentlich "typischerweise" mit? MBP? Kamera? Handy?

Gruesse

P.S.: Entschuldige meine indiskrete Frage.
Anonymous on Feb 1 2008, 19:45

iPhone, UMTS-PCCard, Firmen-Handy, MBP, kleine Digicam, GPS-Empfänger für Handy-Navi. Auf weiteren Reisen bis zu zwei DSLR, zwei bis vier Objektive, einen GPS-Datalogger fürs Geotaggen, jede Menge Ladegeraete, Anonymous on Feb 1 2008, 20:09

I just flew out of SFO last night. Delayed 3 hrs so plan on delays. They are everywhere in the US. My carry-on was jammed with cables, chargers, camera etc. They did look twice at the bag through x-ray - it went through. Good luck and happy traveling - gotta keep a positive attitude cause it can really suck.
Anonymous on Feb 1 2008, 23:24

just back from SFO two hours ago: yes they asked for the cables, the IPOD, the charger and other stuff. But no delay, because seemed as if the Business-guys already had the message before and behaved appropriately.
Anonymous on Feb 2 2008, 20:20

And don't forget to follow these new TSA rule:

http://www.faa.gov/about/office_org/headquarters_offices/ash/ash_programs/hazmat/aircarrier_info/media/airline_passengers_and_batteries.pdf

No lithium batteries in checked baggage
Anonymous on Feb 4 2008, 13:08