

Friday, March 20. 2009

11 days until California

11 days until California. I'm really glad that the vacation comes nearer and nearer. At least 4 days San Francisco ... Monterey and Yosemite are on my list, too. I will be there until 13. April ... so expect a slightly reduced blogging activity.

But I will not traveling alone: My brother Stephan will travel with me. It's his last vacation as a free man, as he will enjoy the joys of fatherhood afterwards. After his vacation he can just do family friendly vaction at the North Sea for at least the next 18 years (his "wife" is afraid of flying)

Posted by Joerg Moellenkamp in English at 11:45

Enjoy your trip!

I've only seen Los Angeles so far, but California is a very nice place to be.

Anonymous on Mar 20 2009, 17:15

Enjoy the time, right now (sitting in a via panera near LAX) the weather is not so nice. No sun (in two ways at least, not even Solaris) right now, but 15C. But the past two days have been nice (24-26C).

I'll head back to HAJ tomorrow-ish, hope you'll have splendid weather...

Anonymous on Mar 20 2009, 17:26