

Friday, May 8. 2009

A brand(ed) new zone

There are branded zones for Solaris 8, Solaris 9 and Linux 2.4/32bit . And now there is a development in progress for a Solaris 10 brand for zones in Opensolaris. Jordan Vaughan reports about this development in his blog and points to a screencast produced by Jerry Jelinek and him demoing this technology. Really cool and according to the blog article the Solaris10 brand makes good progress towards completion. Hope that we see this brand in Opensolaris soon.

Posted by Joerg Moellenkamp in English, Solaris at 20:11