

Monday, January 4, 2010

Job offering at microsoft.com

Looks like Opensource is really hurting Microsoft, so if you don't mind to work for the evil empire, there is an interesting job offering: Linux and Open Office Compete LeadIf you're looking for a new role where you'll focus on one of the biggest issues that is top of mind for KT and Steve B in "Compete", build a complete left to right understanding of the subsidiary, have a large amount of executive exposure, build and manage the activities of a v-team of 13 district Linux& Open Office Compete Leads, and develop a broad set of marketing skills and report to a management team committed to development and recognized for high WHI this is the position for you!Well ... additionally we know now from this job offering that Microsoft has a large affinity to abbreviations

[...] KT [...] Steve B [...] v-team [...] WHI [...] CSI [...] GM [...] BG [...] BMO [...] CSI [...] CSI Lead US [...] BMO [...] IW [...] CSI [...]

Posted by Joerg Moellenkamp in English, The IT Business at 10:00