High capacity WORM tape cartridge for imaging

For use in cameras like this one with a slot for this media format. Caution: You can store photos in RAW only on this media and due to the storage method the media has to be processed on specialized equipment afterwards. However easy read out afterwards with minimal equipment. Important to know: The remaining storage can't be used for new images after the processing. Filling up media when possible. A tape media management to track remaining storage capacity appears as a sensible choice when used in professional environments.

BTW: I'm really impressed by the Sigma 105mm 2,8 EX DG Macro at least in the Nikon variant ... just look on the left half of the image ... especially in the large variant. I knew about a good quality of this lens but the pollen on the left is really impressing me.

45.000 images

Wired reports about an interesting way to shoot a music video - just take thousands of photos: Eschewing a video camera, he took 45,000 photographs with a Nikon D200 DSLR (digital single-lens reflex) camera and stitched them together to create the illusion of video. With a DSLR and a computer the limit is just your imagination.

Adobe Photoshop Lightroom 1.0 out now

Adobe released the first version of Lightroom. I've used Lightroom from time to time, but it didn't make it into my primary photographic toolset, as I wanted to wait for the first pricing information. I didn't want to get dependent on a tool without an announced price. Adobe Tools are not really cheap. But 199$ is a really reasonable price for this application.

New photoset at flickr: Digital remastered

Apropos photography ... i've added a new photoset at flickr for my pictures: Digital remastered. You will find those pictures, that i've put into the machinery of several programs of electronic image processing.

Orchester 91

Daran habe ich garnicht mehr gedacht: Vor einer Weile habe ich bei zwei Terminen für das Orchester 91 photographiert. So als ehrenamtliche Auftragsarbeit. Sind ein paar ganz gute Photos bei rumgekommen. Wenn ihr auf <http://www.orchester91.de> geht, könnt ihr eine Auswahl davon sehen. Die Farbbilder auf der Seite sind von mir gemacht worden.

Das Orchester ist übrigens richtig klasse. Macht Spass, dabei zu photographieren. Doof ist nur, das sobald sich die erste Gänsehaut entwickelt hat, der Dirigent wieder abbricht und von vorne anfängt

Perfektion per Photoshop

Wenn sich die Angebote auf Photos wieder irgendwie total unschön findet, weil die Haut wieder Kapriolen schlägt, und auch groesstes Zureden sie nicht vom gegenteil überzeugen kann, muss halt Photoshop ran. Und dieses Tutorial zeigt, wie es geht.

FlickrExport für Aperture

Wo ich schon mal bei Photoworkflow-Programmen bin: Für Aperture gibt es jetzt auch FlickrExport. Das Geld für die iPhoto-Version war schon sehr gut angelegt, ich gehe davon aus das die Aperture-Version dem nicht nachstehen wird.

Adobe Lightroom Beta 4

Ich muss leider sagen: Mein altgedientes G4 Powerbook ist zu schwach dafür. Adobe Lightroom Beta 4 ist raus, und ist doch ein wenig langsam. Da bleibt wohl nur der Griff zur schamhaft versteckten WindowsXP-Installation auf meinem übertakteten Sempron, um das benutzen zu koennen.

Zwei Lehren: Die Zeichen, mit ein neues Notebook zulegen zu müssen, werden stärker und Lightroom könnte sich wirklich zu einer Konkurrenz für Aperture entwickeln.

Sollten sich mein Depot irgendwie im Wert irgendwas zwischen verzehn- und vertausendfachen, ich im Lotto gewinnen oder plötzlich irgendwo aus dem Nirgendwo eine reiche Erbtante kommen, wird ein Händler für diese schmucken Geräte sicherlich mein erster Ansprechpartner sein. Flickr gamma?

Vielleicht war es mir bisher einfach nur nicht aufgefallen, aber Flickr ist nicht mehr beta sondern gamma. Was mir allerdings aufgefallen ist, ist das neue Design der Seiten. Ich muss sagen, das ich das alte Userinterface irgendwie besser fand. Mal gucken. Uebrigens: Wahrscheinlich fuer viele ein alter Hut, aber GMiF ist ziemlich praktisch, um Photos zu geotaggen, ohne einen GPS-Empfänger mitzunehmen.

Kurz vor acht Uhr

Es ist früh, es ist kalt, auf den Parkbänken liegen noch die Randexistenzen unserer Gesellschaft, und wissen noch nicht, ob sie am heutigen Tag die Augen öffnen sollen. Frauen laufen in der Uniform der Fitnessgesellschaft über die Wege, während der Atem kurz davor ist, sichtbar zu werden. Es lohnt sich, früh morgens aufzustehen, um Bilder dieser Stadt zu machen. Es ist ruhig, still, fast friedlich ... ein Eindruck der täuscht:

Größenwahn

Ich leide anscheinend mittlerweile unter Größenwahn. Herr Jörg "Flugangst" Möllenkamp ist gestern in den Highflyer bei den Deichtorhallen gestiegen. Jener Fesselballon, der seit kurzer Zeit einen wirklich traumhaften Blick über Hamburg bietet. Es lohnt sich wirklich. Man sieht dadurch erst so richtig, wie schön Hamburg eigentlich ist und wie grün vor allen Dingen diese Stadt ist.

Zum Beweis das ich wirklich in diesem Ballon war, habe ich ein neues Set auf Flickr geöffnet.

Nur blöd, das Nachtzugfahren nach diesen Bildern wohl nicht mehr drin ist

Moeve

Gestern mit der Canon "Geh Spielen" 350 D mit einem 28-105/3.6-4.5 USM aufgenommen. Die Kamera ist wirklich rasend schnell, wenn sie gemeinsam mit einer Ultraspeed-Karte genutzt wird. 100-200 Bilder in wenigen Minuten sind schnell weg. Das Bild ist schon auf etwa ein Viertel beschnitten. Die Aufloesung ist wirklich gewaltig. Die Bildfehler sind Kompressionsartefakte von Photoshop Elements. Naechste Anschaffung ist definitiv ein L-Series Zoom. In Zukunft also nur noch Wasser, Brot und Reis

Photography

Every few weeks, i get a request for using my photos, every few month i discover someone who uses my photos in a mashup, a movie or in a presentation. Thus i want to make some comments to the photos:

License

1. At first and most important:

The photos are licensed under the Creative Commons "Attribution-Noncommercial" license.

2. In addition to the conditions of the Creative Commons: It would be really nice, when you link the attribution to this blog entry or when you give me a note about the usage (by comment or trackback to this blog entry).

3. Requests for commercial licensing are welcome.

Equipment

I use the following equipment for my photos:
